

Oh You Lonely Duck!

by Benjamin Daniel Zevon

A little duck swam to the woods to see what he could see. But when it was time to go home, he didn't know which way to go. He was lost. He said to himself, "I should go home, and I would go home, if I could go home." Oh you lonely duck!

o- u -l -d

Then the duck said to himself, "Maybe I should ask some other duck if they know the way home." So he swam all the way to the end of the lake, and he finally found a duck, but that duck said, "I don't know the way home either," so they went off looking together.

At least they weren't lonely, because they had each other, and pretty soon they did find home. It's easier to find your way when you're not lonely.

